Abort bill OK'd

By DAVID ESPO

Times-News writer
BOISE — After over a half hour of emotional debate, the Senate approved 25-7 Thursday a measure regulating — but not prohibiting — abortions in Idaho.

Sen. Leon Swenson, R-Nampa, floor sponsor of the measure, said the law had been written to restrict abortions as much as recent US Supreme Court decisions would allow. The measure now moves to the House.

"It isn't a question of abortions or no abortions," Swenson said. "It's an issue of how far we can restrict abortions under the Supreme Court decision."

The proposal defines a woman's pregnancy in three trimesters and places increasingly tough restrictions on abortions which may be performed in each of the trimesters.

During the first, thirteen weeks of pregnancy, a woman may have an abortion performed in a properly equipped doctor's office or hospital under the supervision of a physician only.

Restrictions from the 14th to the beginning of the 25th week of pregnancy include the requirement that the operation be performed in a licensed hospital. Abortions following the point where the "fetus becomes viable" — defined as the beginning of the 25th week — are permitted only to save the life of the woman.

The measure also provides for consultation of a physician and the woman before any abortion may be performed, and in some cases requires the consent of the husband.

Sen. Jack Tacke, D-Cottonwood, told the Senate he was "not a defiant man." But he said that the US Supreme Court is "not infallible."

"To me," Tacke said, "abortion no matter in what trimester, is the taking of the life of an individual, a creature of God, endowed with body and soul. It has a right to life. What is more sacred than life itself?"

Sen. Dane Watkins, R-Idaho Falls, agreed with Tacke. "I don't see how we can sit here and say once there is life we can take it away. God's laws are more important than man's laws," he told the Senate.

The measure was drafted with the assistance of legal counsel, medical personnel and lawmakers trying to conform to the Supreme Court decision of the hundredth year earlier this year.

Sen. Robert Saxvik, D-Burley, said the legislature should "weigh not so much our emotions, possibly, as much as where do we want to leave our hospitals, our physicians, our citizens."

The legislation gives hospitals the right to refuse to perform abortions, gives medical personnel the same right, and allows the woman to refuse an abortion.

True love

American prisoners endure Red torture

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (UPI) — Life in Communist prison camps, including torture for a number of American prisoners, and even for those fortunate to escape the physical abuse the life was never easy.

The torture included confinement in coffin-like boxes for months at a time and in at least one instance a man had his thumb cut off.

These were some of the details of the American POWs' life in North Vietnam beginning to surface at Clark Air Base, the main staging point for the men as they fly from Hanoi to reunions with their families in the United States.

The information on the men comes from a variety of sources, including the men themselves and support personnel who have assisted the prisoners in readjusting from internment to freedom.

Military authorities here are extremely sensitive about details of the men's imprisonment. They fear for the safety of the men not yet released and they argue that if news about the details of what the men went through they could threaten the well-being of those still behind bars.

But none the less the picture of POW life put together from a variety of sources indicates:

Torture was used on the men and in most cases the principle goal of the North Vietnamese interrogators was to get statements that could be used for propaganda.

The treatment of the POWs changed for the better in late 1960 and early 1970, depending on where the men were held. There are indications that there are more men held in Communist prison camps than have been named by their captors so far.

The Americans were highly organized with sophisticated and sometimes bizarre means of communication.

There were divisions among the men but it stemmed mostly from what was believed to be selfishness rather than antipathy statements made by some of the captives.

"The men are most bitter about the torture and the solitary confinement."

"You can measure this solitary confinement in months and years, not hours and days," said one source. "One man spent 27 months in solitary."

The men were put into boxes which measured seven feet by three by three, the sources said. They only got out to go to the bathroom.

Details of the torture are sketchy, but one favored method was to use wounds the prisoners received when they were captured to insure that tell-tale scars would be kept to a minimum.

One of the prisoners, who was shot through the hand, had his thumb sliced off in an effort to make him talk. Another prisoner had a broken leg re-broken again and again in order to get a statement from him.

Still another, with a broken arm was thrown into a cell with no treatment at all. His arm healed at a grotesque angle and it will have to be broken again once he returns in order for it to heal properly.

World monetary collapse feared

PARIS (UPI) — French Finance Minister Valéry Giscard d'Estaing said today the Western world's entire monetary system could collapse unless there is immediate and concerted action by all nations to counter the latest wave of speculation against the dollar.

"We must organize immediate and concerted action," Giscard told an emergency meeting of the finance ministers of the West's wealthiest countries.

"Each among us with his own responsibilities and means must act resolutely toward launching such concerted action in a spirit of active international cooperation," he said.

US Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz led the American team at talks with the finance ministers of the nine-member European common market plus other major monetary powers — Canada, Japan, Switzerland and Sweden.

However Shultz said he was there to "listen" and brought no proposals with him.

Giscard said to yield to the speculators "might have damaging consequences for the whole international community."

Giscard, as current chairman of the group, opened the crisis conference and said the West is faced by "a new form of international speculation" which, unlike before, is not based on economic disequilibrium.

"The present monetary crisis has different characteristics from those that preceded it," he said. "It has followed immediately on the heels of a monetary realignment which on the whole responds to economic facts."

Giscard was referring to the Feb. 12 devaluation, by 10 percent, of the US dollar.

Giscard d'Estaing was followed by Willy de Clercq of Belgium, Chairman of the Common Market's Council of Ministers, who put forward the market community members' "suggestions" as to how the United States could help in solving the crisis.

Conference sources said Giscard d'Estaing's statement made it clear that Western Europe wants America to participate in joint action to stop the dollar plunging further — which makes European goods more expensive.

De Clercq made this crystal clear in his statement, they said.

The Common Market agreed in Brussels Thursday to suggest that Washington "might want to consider" such measures as buying back access dollars in Europe with Treasury bonds, raising interest rates to make investment in America more attractive, and restricting dollar investments abroad.

This position was outlined by De Clercq on behalf of the Community.

Indian accord reported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., said today agreement was near between militant Indians and the government at Wounded Knee, S.D., and the Justice Department said it expected an announcement some time today.

Abourezk told reporters, "My people out there tell me there is an agreement that will be announced today. But I don't know the details."

He added, "The Indians apparently just decided it was time to come to terms."

A Justice Department spokesman said an announcement might be made simultaneously in Washington and Wounded Knee.

The government spokesman said he did not know details of the agreement, but said it apparently followed proposals offered by Dakota Bishop James Armstrong of the United Methodist Church.

A spokesman for Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., who flew to Wounded Knee last week to talk with AIM leaders, said three demands by the militant Indians appeared to be holding up a settlement.

He said the first two demands — that a high Interior Department official go to the reservation and that four Indians arrested for smuggling arms be released — probably could be met.

House backs Gem tax cut

BOISE (UPI) — After a surprisingly brief debate, the Idaho House approved 47-23 and sent to the Senate Friday a bill to cut property taxes by three mills.

Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, R-Tuttle, steered the bill to passage with a 20-minute explanation that included figures on what the measure would do for each member's school district.

In addition to reducing the ceiling on school maintenance and operation levies to 27 mills from 30 the bill includes a $3½-million state appropriation so that local districts lose no money.

But, in appropriating state aid, the bill sends it to the state's school districts via the school foundation formula.

This feature, Ravenscroft said, further equalizes school aid in the state and will make easier the task of the legislature if and when the courts strike down the present property tax funding.

Jobless rate rises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Unemployment edged up to 5.1 percent in February, the first increase in seven months, the government reported today.

The 0.1 percent rise from January came despite a gain of more than half a million in the number of persons with jobs.

Teenagers accounted for most of the higher joblessness, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said, while nearly two-thirds of the increased employment was accounted for by adult women.

The rise in unemployment was the second bad economic report released by the government in two days. On Thursday, the BLS reported that wholesale prices went up 1.9 percent in February, biggest jump in 22 years.

Total employment rose by 650,000 in February to 83.1 million following a small decline in January, the BLS said.

Over the past year, employment has increased by 2.5 million persons.

The number of workers without jobs went up 76,000 to 4.4 million, a decline of 570,000 over the past year.

The BLS said the one-tenth of one percent last month was statistically insignificant.

Development eyed for rim

TWIN FALLS — A plan to establish a major commercial and residential development at the canyon rim adjacent to the Canyon Memorial Bridge was revealed Thursday night.

The "planned unit development" on the former Bert Barlow property immediately southwest of the rim-to-rim bridge was presented to the Twin Falls County Planning and Zoning Commission.

Ed Woods, county zoning administrator, said the development proposes a motel, condominium and some commercial sales area.

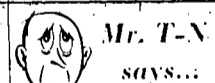

He requested a change to commercial zoning on the agriculturally-zoned property to permit the development.

The request of Lynwood Development Corp. new owners of the property, was tabled by the commission until a pending decision by the Idaho Department of Highways for reconstruction of the highway and new bridge construction is reached.

John Bishop, Lynwood Development Corp., said the firm is not yet ready to announce a definite plan for the area, but said extensive landscaping and beautification is planned.

He said a 33-acre site would be developed under a single plan in which the four-story motel, condominiums and some services would be developed to complement each other.

Some professional office buildings are also contemplated in the preliminary design, he said.

"If only we could find someone to set up a money-dispensing bird feeder in Twin Falls."

Tot bill scrapped

BOISE (UPI) — For the second time in 10 days the House soundly defeated a kindergarten proposal Thursday, this time whopping it 28-41.

On Feb. 26, the House killed an earlier proposal — sent over from the Senate — by a vote of 25-44.

This bill, put to a vote after 35 minutes of debate, was considered "half a loaf" by kindergarten proponents.

Free money dispensed from bird feeder

LAWRENCEBURG, Ind. (UPI) — Free money.

That's what is available every day — no strings attached — in a little box that resembles a bird feeder set in a park in the center of this quiet Ohio River town about 30 miles from Cincinnati.

The $10 per day is provided by a man who admits to being well-to-do financially. "The Lord has been good to me," but insists on remaining anonymous.

The donor, a prominent businessman, has been through Gene McCann, editor of the Dearborn (Ind.) County Register, who said he was given $2,000 and that $10 would be placed in the box every day for whoever wanted to take it.

The money box is about two months old. The donor places $10 in it each day and each day the money is taken. Usually it goes to young children, sometimes to teenagers and occasionally to adults.

"The man who conceived the idea agreed to talk about it, but only by telephone. He said he felt that human nature would make the money box self-perpetuating, that many of those who took the $10 would replace it when they were able."

He went on to say that he thought the money might be misdirected. "He said, 'I'm not naive enough to believe that every dollar taken was taken with an absolute need in mind.'"

Conversely, "I'm convinced that it has, in many cases, satisfied many real needs for many people."

The donor said he decided on the $10 figure because "I just wanted to try the idea for a period of six months."

"The idea for it came right out of the blue," he said. "I was driving home and the idea was just there, just exactly the way we have carried it out."

The donor said he figured some people would think him a nut and some have said in letters to the Dearborn paper that they think the money could be better put to use.

Which brings from the donor the blunt answer that "I'm no nut."

In any opinion, these critics are perfectly free to put their ideas into action," he said. "They don't."

A local minister said it would be better to use a glass box and place a Bible inside, turning the page each day. But he hasn't put up that glass box.

"The difference between these people and myself is that I put my idea and my charity into action."

The donor said he hoped his charity would spark others to add a dollar or two to the $10. "There have already been some small contributions," he said.

"But it's a little too soon to decide if it will become self-perpetuating," he said. "We'll give it the full six months and see what happens."

Military police sift wreckage

SILVER CITY, N.C. (UPI) — With military police standing vigil along a rope cordoning off several acres of farmland and forest, army investigators are sifting through wreckage to determine the cause of a plane crash that killed 14 members of a crack parachuting team.

The men's bodies were taken away in military ambulances Thursday afternoon, about six hours after the C-47 twin-engine prop plane spiraled with one wing missing into a muddy, freshly plowed cornfield. There were no survivors.

The missing wing was found in two pieces in a wooded area about 500 yards from the plane's body. An eyewitness said she heard at least one explosion before the crash.

Army officials had no explanation for the cause of the crash.

A preliminary autopsy on the pilot and co-pilot showed no evidence of anything that might have caused the crash.

You were 2 years old," Slack told the bank president. Mrs. Harry Eaton, wife of the president, also was present.

TWIN FALLS — Beginning Tuesday, March 11, all barbershops in the downtown Twin Falls area will close at 5:30 instead of 6 p.m., according to John Ross of the Barber Shop.

"We're not bound by any union or bar state laws," Ross said, "although most of us try to go along with one another."

The Narrow Path

It would appear that two nations seeking to improve relations with each other would have the approbation of the rest of the world and so they do, except when other nations see a potential threat to themselves in the accord.

When the United States and the Peoples Republic of China agreed to exchange liaison offices, a step short of formal diplomatic relations, they took pains to assure the world — and Soviet Russia — that their relationship would never be directed against a third country.

That was plain enough, perhaps, to ease any anxiety Moscow may feel about its Asian and American rivals drawing closer together. But it did little to allay the fears of Nationalist China, which long has been an independent government on Taiwan.

The United States has steadfastly maintained it would not abandon Taiwan.

Both China and the U.S. omitted their familiar refrains on that point but they did say neither would seek "hegemony in the Pacific area" and both opposed anyone else seeking dominance there.

This proved of scant comfort to Taiwan, whose uneasy status as a nation depends upon Washington and Peking.

Exchanging missions may serve many important purposes of formal diplomatic relations, one being to facilitate broadened trade between two countries.

President Nixon's historic visits to Peking and Moscow and the end of the war in Vietnam paved the way for the new accord, and Russia's border dispute with China may have caused China to seek a closer relationship and direct communications with the U.S.

In any event, it appears to be another step toward the era of peace the President seeks. But the path ahead is clearly a narrow one.

Time To Retire

There are six times as many Americans over 65 as at the beginning of this century. With improved health and new medical techniques, the number is increasing rapidly.

And it has been asserted that only about a third of those who reach 65 want to quit work.

Americans have a not altogether commendable habit of thinking everything can be settled with money. But handing the aged a pension and telling them to clear out doesn't solve everything for them.

It can be as difficult for a man to change his way of living at a certain age as it is for a wart hog to change his ugly phiz. Many industries keep aging workers on the payroll because they value their skills.

But the ways of welfareites being what they are, in the course of time there may be a law directing that a man must retire when he reaches 65. Later the limit will be lowered to 60 or perhaps less.

It will unless the aging insist on something better than merely being handed a check and told to fold the hands that have always been busy.

About Sports

Any avocation which holds the title of the national pastime can expect much competition from others vying for the honor.

Baseball is not an exception. There are some who will argue the sport has lost that title, although they will not agree whether it is football, basketball or some other sport which has gained the largest following.

All professional sports have become big business, a trend which at times tends to blur the image of the game itself. Baseball has become heavily organized, "with team managements standing together almost solidly and the players organized into a negotiating army with its own executive director.

The threat of a general strike hangs over the sport, as the 13-day delay in starting spring training in 1972 proved. A strike this year has been avoided by the tentative acceptance of a three-year contract. Terms were not revealed pending ratification by the teams and players.

Highway Markings

New symbols, similar to those used internationally, are gradually replacing word messages on road signs throughout the United States to provide instant, unambiguous safety information to drivers. The changeover is to be completed by the end of 1974.

Also being standardized are sign colors — red for stop or prohibited maneuver, yellow for caution or general warning, and so on.

Another small change which should reap great dividends in highway safety is the standardization of center, edge and lane striping.

Since more than 70 per cent of this country's two-lane secondary roads — where we do most of our driving and where two-thirds of our accidents occur — remain unmarked, color standardization of highway striping "is the most significant new dimension in pavement markings to date," according to John P. Manley, executive vice president of a company which manufactures reflective glass spheres used in striping paints.

This is what they call the "Morse Code of Highway Safety." Yellow will be the only color used for centerline markings indicating traffic moving in both directions. White will be used for lanes of traffic moving in the same direction and to indicate pavement edges.

On two-lane highways, a broken yellow centerline indicates passing permitted, with due caution for oncoming traffic. Double solid yellow lines mean no passing in either direction. A broken yellow line next to a solid yellow line indicates a passing zone only for traffic on the side of the broken line.

On multilane highways, opposing traffic will also be separated by double solid yellow lines. Traffic lanes going in the same direction will be separated by broken white lines.

There are other variations for highways with reversible lanes during rush hours and for those with two-way left turn lanes.

Motorists interested in the full explanation of the new symbols, colors and markings can get a free booklet by writing: Morse Code of Highway Safety, Potlatch Industries, Inc., P.O. Box 14, Carlstadt, New Jersey 07072.

ROBERT ALLEN

A Timely And Needed Reform

WASHINGTON — It's a timely and much needed reform — but its chances of getting anywhere are virtually nil.

Rep. John Seiberling, D-O., is sponsoring a constitutional amendment that would impose an age limit of 65 on members of Congress and 70 years for federal judges, including the Supreme Court.

"Long ago," says Seiberling, 54-year-old grandson of the founder of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., "Congress acknowledged the wisdom of mandatory retirement when it established a retirement age for those in government civil service. It is time Congress applied this principle to itself and the federal judiciary.

It is time, indeed, and long overdue! The Akron legislator couldn't be more correct.

As he pertinently points out, the average age of chairmen of House committees is 65, while federal judges serve for life and some hang on interminably. Examples:

The late Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black was 85 when finally forced to retire due to severe illness, from which he died a short time later. Justice William O. Douglas, 74, lingers on although requiring a battery-charged pacemaker for his heart and recently was reputed to be ailing.

But desirable as such a mandatory age limit might be, putting it into effect is something else. Amending the Constitution is a difficult and tortuous process.

To begin with, the proposal would have to be passed by Congress — virtually all of whose key leaders are "senior citizens," to put it tactfully. They are not likely to be enthusiastic about legislating themselves out of influential office — which took many years to attain.

Then, even if the amendment somehow got through Congress, where a two-thirds majority is required, it would have to run the highly uncertain gauntlet of the 50 state legislatures, three-fourths of which would have to approve.

It would take a long time — as demonstrated by the discouraging fact that there is no evidence Seiberling's sound idea is even getting started in Congress.

That's not daunting him; he is firmly convinced that sooner or later his proposal will make headway.

"At a time when we are all concerned with the need to breathe new life into the legislative branch of our government," argues Seiberling, "this amendment is particularly important. In the past several months, we have made significant reforms in House procedures and the committee system. I believe they will go a long way toward re-establishing Congress as a branch of government of equal stature with the executive branch."

But notwithstanding these worthy strides, we have not touched on one aspect of Congress, which, perhaps more than any other, will ultimately determine whether the proper balance of powers within our government can be restored — the membership of Congress.

The crux of that problem, in Seiberling's opinion, is aged leaders. What Congress needs is younger members with the physical and mental vigor to stand up under the heavy demands of their jobs.

"This is a job for mature men and women, asserts Seiberling, "but not for the aged."

Citing himself as an example, he said that one of the first things he discovered as a member of Congress was how difficult and physically taxing the office can be. The hours are long, and the problems are complicated.

It is no coincidence, Seiberling noted, that business corporations concerned with their "institutional health" have almost universally adopted mandatory retirement for both officers and employees — usually age 65.

ANDREW TULLY

Lingering Smell

WASHINGTON — Republicans running for national office in 1974 and indeed in the Presidential year

1976 should be most interested in deodorizing Richard Nixon's reelection campaign. The smell lingers and unless somebody takes a fumigator in hand it could dash a lot of GOP hopes in the next three years.

Heaven knows the Watergate bugging incident and Nixon's secret campaign slush fund were bad enough. But now we have sworn court testimony that then Atty. Gen. John Mitchell was setting up a government meeting for a financial tycoon facing a fraud investigation who had secretly given the Nixon campaign $200,000. Democrats are rolling in the aisles with unbridled glee.

Nixon of course is safe. He can't run again. But even the most loyal Republican must wonder if those who ran the President's campaign last year deliberately set out to destroy the party's future credibility.

The latest odor was supplied in a pretrial deposition by Harry L. Sears, a lawyer for the financier, Robert L. Vesco, accused in a Securities and Exchange Commission suit of a $224-million fund by draining off assets of his IOS overseas mutual fund empire. It's the biggest fraud case in SEC history. This is what Sears said, under oath:

"When the $200,000 contribution was made in April 1972, Sears already had talked with Mitchell about meeting with SEC Chairman William J. Casey so the lawyer could complain about SEC 'harassment.' The meeting was granted in May, but subsequently the SEC investigation was expanded and suit was filed. The Nixon campaign failed to report the $200,000 donation even though it came in after a new disclosure law took effect. However, the money — given in cash — was returned in January of this year after the Washington Star-News disclosed the contribution. Vesco gave Sears $15,000 after Sears arranged to have Mitchell phone the U.S. Embassy in Switzerland, to express interest when Vesco was jailed in Geneva in late 1971. Vesco was freed on bail within 24 hours after Mitchell's call.

Sears quoted Vesco as saying that Nixon's finance chairman, Maurice H. Stans, had asked for the contribution in cash. The money subsequently was flown from New Jersey to Washington on April 10 last year and given to Stans in his campaign office. That was three days after the new disclosure law had taken effect. The President's brother, Edward Nixon, made a phone call to verify that Stans wanted the money in cash. Eventually, the $200,000 was stashed in a safe, some of whose cash contents were linked to the Watergate incident.

Now then I am quite prepared to listen to testimony that all these maneuverings were quite innocent. But until the fumigating man arrives, I reserve the right to be darkly suspicious of the Nixon administration's interest in a man in trouble with a government agency.

PAUL HARVEY

Catch Up

Ford ads on TV say its LTD is more car for the money than a Jaguar. The American-made car is on the defensive. The invasion of foreign cars has Detroit fighting for its life.

In the 1960s, Americans sought foreign cars because they were compact, inexpensive, economical. Detroit reacted to this invasion of smaller cars with a litter of pups: Pintos and Gremlins, Corvairs and Vegas, Colts and Cruisers.

In the 1970s, Americans began buying from overseas cars in the $3,000 to $10,000 class, what Detroit calls "the Buck market."

Volkswagen sales in the United States are down 7 per cent down last year. But fancier foreign cars are setting sales records here: Mercedes and Volvo, Mazda and Fiat, Porsche, Audi and Saab.

So again, tardily perhaps, Detroit has reacted. General Motors is restoring some Pontiacs and Oldsmobiles — figuring gadgets will do it. Cadillac contemplates a smaller version of itself to compete with the Mercedes.

President Nixon concedes that trade imbalance is the one storm cloud on an otherwise bright horizon and that dark cloud ballooned last year to more than $4 billion. Imported cars accounted for almost half of that. And the auto trade deficit, the output exceeding income, greater than ever is worsening.

Uncle Sam, with a surcharge on imports, tried to compensate for Detroit's higher wages, but if the number of imports was thus reduced, the higher prices of luxury models more than canceled out any advantage.

In a period of prosperity Detroit can give up 15 per cent to 15.5 per cent of the total domestic market and still pay a dividend, but in any period of pinch there'd be a lot of auto workers furloughed.

The burban who formerly depressed the foreign car market — parts and mechanics — now haunts the domestics as much as any.

The next-generation automobile will reflect higher fuel prices and pollution limitations.

The Japanese are betting the car of tomorrow will have a revolutionary engine and will be the size of a Mazda.

But Detroit, hypercautious in adopting innovative engines, will likely find itself in yet another come-from-behind situation wherein older nations, with more experience than we in matters relating to overcrowding and conserving, will have to show us the way.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Caesarean

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to know if having two Caesarean sections (crosswise incision) would have anything to do with not being able to hold the stomach muscles in.

What are the best exercises for tightening up the stomach muscles? — Mrs. D. B. S.

An incision by any other name is an incision and subject to the same needs for proper after care.

Your Caesarean incision is no different than that of any other abdominal operation.

Certainly, the tendency would be for your stomach muscles to become stretched out and lazy, so to speak. But after a suitable period of time after the Caesarean (and your doctor can advise you best on that), there's no reason why you shouldn't be able to get rid of the flab.

Bending of the waist is the best type of exercise. Lie on the floor and raise your legs or, lying on the floor, raise yourself to a sitting position. These exercises put stress on the stomach muscles.

Or you could go on a reducing diet.

And there's always a girdle.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was surprised at the letter by the pregnant woman concerned over her IUD in the uterus. I thought the whole point of using that thing was to prevent pregnancy — isn't it that reliable, or what? — M.G.P.

This column has NEVER said the IUD's were 100 per cent reliable. Their record is pretty good, but the devices can slip out of position, and they may permit an occasional pregnancy even when in position.

Users should have them checked periodically to make sure they are in proper position and are not causing irritation. There are advantages and disadvantages with A-I-B.

methods of birth control. The advantage of the IUD is that it does not require daily action on a woman's part — as with the pill — nor does it require attention before intercourse, as with the diaphragm.

The disadvantage is obvious from the lady's letter.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: One of my sons had severe hives three times in 12 years from fish. As they frequently go to parties, he gets fish in salad or a sandwich unaware.

Been told the next attack will surely be fatal.

Is there an antitoxin or some medication that would counteract it? — Like-for-bee stings? A life-saving package to have with him? — M. S.

You've been told. By whom? Three attacks of hives in 12 years doesn't sound like a very dreadful peril, but if there were other symptoms along with the hives that seemed to threaten death, that would be something else.

I suggest that your son talk to his physician — preferably the one who saw and treated him the last time he had an attack — to find out how much danger there really is, and to discuss whether he should carry any medication with him in case he gets some unexpected fish again.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 19 and already have stretch marks on my thighs and top of my legs, so bad I hate to wear a bathing suit. I also have a stomach that sticks out. Please suggest some ways I can get rid of these stretch marks and my "pot belly." — Miss K.

There's no way to get rid of the stretch marks, but I suggest a conference with your bathroom scale to see if some dieting isn't indicated to get rid of the pot belly. That and exercise.

BERRY'S WORLD

Let me ask you one question — WHY do you need a pocket computer?

TF man gets bill backing

BOISE — A Twin Falls attorney got a Senate committee to go along with proposed legislation dealing with the right of trustees to expel students from school Thursday.

Fred Decker, appearing before the Senate Health Education and Welfare Committee, won a "do-pass" recommendation for a bill giving trustee boards authority to expel children whose presence is clearly detrimental to the health and safety of the pupils and other persons in the school, "but whose conduct does not fall under the regulations in present law."

The bill has already passed the House.

The committee had held the bill earlier in the week because several members said they didn't see what authority it would grant to school boards that they don't already have.

The proposal also guarantees a fair hearing procedure for a student and a parent when he is threatened with expulsion.

The committee also signed its approval in advance of a letter of legislative intent that the House attached to the public school appropriations bill when it passed the measure earlier in the week.

The letter declares the intent of the legislature to ensure teachers and non-certified personnel a five per cent increase in salary for the current year the next school year as well.

Approved

Special to the Times-News
BOISE — Two legislative proposals designed to facilitate the replacement of the American Falls dam with private funding gained House approval Thursday.

The measures have already passed the Senate and now move to the governor for his consideration.

One of the measures would eliminate time and monetary restrictions on contracts for sale of surplus power by irrigation districts, while the second measure would authorize irrigation districts to contract for reconstruction of irrigation dams or structures and finance work through bonding procedure.

The bills passed by identical 53-0 votes.

Demo criticizes finance unit

Special to the Times-News
BOISE — The Senate minority leader Thursday accused the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee of ignoring the priorities established by other state agencies in recommending building construction for approval by the legislature.

Sen. John Evans, D-Malad, told committee members they ignored the priorities established by the State Board of Education and the Permanent Building Fund Advisory Council in recommending money for buildings at the College of Southern Idaho and North Idaho College.

The committee recommended earlier this week that the state spend $950,000 to construct the first phase of a vocational education building at the CSI campus and $170,000 to complete a general science building at the Cour d'Alene site.

But Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, committee chairman, said he categorically deny that we're not listening to the recommendations of other agencies.

Evans said the recommendations of the State Board of Education were changed by the committee when more money became available, and said the committee "should have gone back to the State Department of Education and reconvened over the expenditure of the funds."

High agreed that Evans had a valid point with respect to reconvening, but said the committee had "essentially done this."

High said the state director of vocational education was asked to delineate priorities for spending. His recommendations are in the draft bill, the lawmaker said.

High said the issue was unrelated to the issue of junior college funding. "We're not appropriating to junior colleges," he said in reference to the building funds.

High said nothing to do with it. He said vocational education was "totally" under the control of the State Board of Education, and that the money would go to the area vocational educational schools.

House taxwriters air two tax relief plans

BOISE (UPI) — House taxwriters decided to put before the house Thursday two tax relief plans that if taken together, would cut taxes by an estimated $6.1 million next year.

They sent to the floor with a favorable recommendation a bill to increase the grocery allowance on income taxes to $15 from $10 for one year.

Tax Committee Chairman Allan E. Larson, D-Blackfoot, said that proposal will provide an estimated $2.6 million in tax relief.

Already on the calendar in the House is another tax cut one to reduce the public school maintenance and operation levy to 27 mills from 30. This would provide $3.5 million in estimated tax relief. The loss at the local level would be made up through an appropriation from the state level.

Additionally, the money coming from the state level would be funneled through the school foundation formula and this, according to the bill's backers, would provide further equalization.

Still another proposal to eliminate the $10 head tax for one year failed to get out of committee. The committee adjourned after voting 5-11 against sending it to the floor without recommendation.

This indicates the committee wants the House to try on for size the first two proposals before trotting out the head tax elimination.

First, if the committee asks the House to consider something else, will be the three-mill cut in property taxes. It is on third reading in the house Friday.

Under normal procedures the grocery allowance bill would not be considered until Saturday. It could be considered on Friday, however, possibly following the property tax relief proposal.

The head tax bill, which disallows the grocery allowance income tax credit to non-residents, would produce an estimated $2.3 million in tax relief. Some legislators in both houses want that bill but some in leadership prefer the grocery allowance approach.

Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, R-Tuttle, told tax committee members that the bill to reduce the maintenance and operation levy three mills would produce a significant increase in funds for most school districts in the state by channeling the money through the state aid formula.

Burley man named to state post

BOISE (UPI) — Don C. Loveland, Burley, was elected chairman of the Idaho State Tax Commission Thursday, replacing Ewing H. Little, Kellogg.

Loveland will remain in that position for two years as the top spot is a revolving one for the four members on the commission. Other members are Luther I. Passmore, Caldwell, and Jenkin Palmer, Minid.

Loveland has been on the commission since 1969.

The commission collects taxes for the state of Idaho with the exception of those of liquor, motor vehicles.

The commission also assesses the operating properties, estimates values and supervises the state's ad valorem tax system. The commissioners are appointed by the governor for six-year terms.

Airport funding

BOISE — Legislation introduced Thursday in the House would appropriate $15,000 in federal revenue sharing funds for Idaho's five air carrier airports, including Twin Falls.

The money would be used for fire, crash and rescue and security requirements at the airports in Boise, Idaho Falls, Lewiston, Pocatello and Twin Falls.

The $15,000 would come from the state's $9 million non-recurring revenue sharing.

Stanger named Rupert officer

TWIN FALLS — David Stanger, 21, Twin Falls, is now employed by the Rupert Police Department.

He fills the vacancy as a city patrolman left by the resignation of Wallace Smith.

He and his family will move to Rupert as soon as housing is available. Stanger is married to the former Janet Rapp and the couple has a 3-month-old daughter. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Stanger, Twin Falls.

Slanger was born and reared in Twin Falls and graduated from high school here in 1970, attending the College of Southern Idaho law enforcement class. He received an associate of science degree in June, 1971, and worked at CSI as a security officer while attending classes.

A citizens band radio operator, he holds a Life Scout rank and is also interested in restoring antique automobiles and in fishing and hunting.

Races Sunday

FAIRFIELD—Teenage skiers from throughout Magic Valley will compete Sunday at Soldier Mountain in the first annual Wheeler Trophy Races.

David Wheeler, manager of the ski area, said some 12 trophies have been purchased for the young winners. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. and the races will be held early in the afternoon.

Separate divisions are planned for men and women racers and for two age groups. Racers 13 to 15 years of age will compete in one division and those 16 through 18 in the other.

Gossip hit

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nancy McGinnis, one of Henry Kissinger's most frequent female companions, Thursday denounced speculation that she would marry the presidential adviser as "outrageous."

Miss McGinnis, a member of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's staff, was with Kissinger Wednesday night at a diplomatic party in Washington.

Kissinger would not comment on reports that they might marry but the Washington Post reported that when a photographer offered to take the "wedding pictures," he quipped, "I'll take you up on that."

Bombs blast London

LONDON (UPI) — The first bomb went off at 2:50 p.m. near Trafalgar Square, one of London's chief landmarks, and shook No. 10 Downing St., the official residence of Prime Minister Edward Heath.

The second bomb went off minutes later in front of Old Bailey, the storied criminal court near St. Paul's Cathedral. Two other bombs, hidden in parked cars, were dismantled Thursday outside the new glass-walled headquarters of Scotland Yard and near the headquarters of the British armed forces broadcasting system.

The explosions ripped the heart of London like nothing since the World War II blitz, killing one man and wounding more than 200 persons in attacks officials tentatively blamed on the extremist Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army. The more moderate official wing of the IRA denied any role in the blasts.

One man died in the explosion at the Old Bailey and more than 150 persons, among them lawyers and judges hurrying back to argue or hear afternoon cases, were hurt.

The bombs, Scotland Yard said, apparently were aimed at the military, police and courts — traditional targets of IRA bombers and gunmen.

All four bombs, police said, were timed to explode one hour before Heath met Liam Cosgrave, the newly-elected prime minister of Ireland and an opponent of the IRA.

The explosions also coincided with a Northern Ireland referendum meant to show whether residents of that violence-torn province prefer to retain their links with Britain or join Ireland. The IRA opposed the referendum.

Asked if the bombings were carried out by IRA extremists, a police spokesman referred to a Times of London report that received a telephone warning that Provisionals planted the bombs.

France air plan studied

PARIS (UPI) — Air traffic over France, directed by the military for the past 11 days, today came under the scrutiny of pilots and technicians who have boycotted French skies following an air disaster Monday that killed 48 persons.

A seven-man Swiss delegation flew in to study the Clement Marot military control plan in effect Monday when two Spanish jetliners collided over western France.

Representatives of Britain's airlines and pilots were to arrive in a military plane.

Takeoffs and landings remained a fraction of what they usually number and the confusion that has reigned at Paris airports and terminals since the 17-day-old civilian air traffic controllers strike began took on new dimensions.

Air passengers destined for Paris were flown to Brussels then bussed to Paris' downtown air terminal at Les Invalides.

The crash became so intense Thursday night that relatives and friends shouted and held up hand-lettered signs in an effort to find the persons they had come to meet.

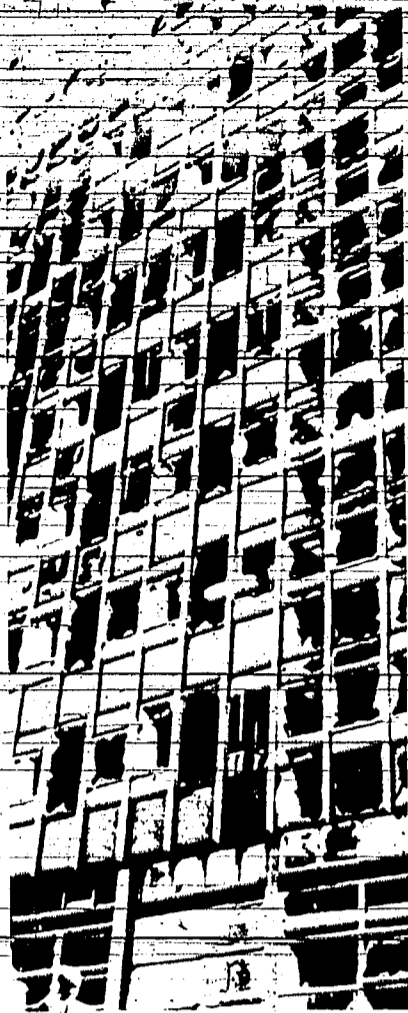

"They seem to be arriving in waves," one businessman's wife said. "But I have not been able to get any precise information."

Some young persons sat around on the floor with big bottles of lemonade and beer.

In Spain, at a meeting of the legislature's foreign affairs committee, deputy Hernandez Pando blamed Monday's accident on "incapability or negligence of French military air controllers."

Since Monday's crash, more than 35 airlines have suspended their flights through French air space. Today only TWA, Pan Am, Air Maroc, Tunis Air, Air Algerie, Transair and Middle East airlines were flying in or out of Orly International.

Only authorities said that 68 take-offs and 49 landings were scheduled today. A normal day at Orly sees 600 take-offs and departures.

Minus windows

A MODERN office building near London's Old Bailey courthouse is minus most of its windows today following explosion of a car bomb believed to have been set by Irish extremists. The blast killed one person and injured more than 100. (UPI)

HEW funds cutoff appealed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department has appealed a federal judge's ruling that ordered the government to begin cutting off federal funds to school systems in 17 states deemed in violation of civil rights laws.

On Feb. 10 U.S. District Judge John H. Pratt ordered the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) to begin the fund cutoff in mid-April for public schools and mid-June for colleges and universities.

The Justice Department's appeal, filed Thursday in the U.S. Court of Appeals here, said Pratt's order "virtually places HEW in receivership with the District of Columbia, had respect to vast areas of its responsibilities."

It said the order was "unprecedented" in directing schools and colleges said to the secretary of HEW to change his methods "in a field clearly violation of the Civil Rights Act of 1964."

Pratt's order "virtually places HEW in receivership with the District of Columbia, had respect to vast areas of its responsibilities."

9 rival for post

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) —

The first U.S. presidential campaign in 10 years ended early today with a series of rallies by nine candidates, one of them chosen by exiled former President Juan D. Peron and pledged to turn over real power to Peron if elected.

More than 100,000 supporters ignored rain to stand in a soccer stadium at a final giant show of strength and chant: "Peron! Peron! Peron!"

The Peron candidate, one time dentist Hector J. Campora, 64, and three-time presidential candidate Ricardo Balbin, a 68-year-old moderate, were leading contenders in the Sunday election.

Belief in devil termed difficult

By LOUIS CASSELS

United Press International

Many people who believe at least tentatively in the reality of God have a much harder time believing in the reality of the Devil.

Even among clergymen there is a widespread tendency to soft-pedal the whole subject of demonology and go along with the popular idea that the Devil is a purely mythological creature.

But this attitude flies in the face of a great deal of explicit Biblical teaching. It is a direct contradiction of letters held by Jesus, St. Paul, St. John and many other New Testament figures.

In recent weeks two noted Christian teachers have public-

Struggle necessary to gain strength in life

By WALTER BRENNAN
Moore Park, Calif.

My wife Ruth and I have always had chickens around our place, and a long time ago I learned something important about them. If you help the chick out of its shell when it's hatching, it's going to be too weak to survive.

I believe it's the same way with us humans. It's the struggles in our lives that develop strength.

It's why I'm glad that I didn't know any big shots in Hollywood when I came out here after World War I. No one to crack that shell for me. I got into pictures the hard way — as an extra.

I don't mean it wasn't painful while I was going through it — struggle generally is. A good many times during those years, Ruth fed our family of three children on a dollar a day, plus what those chickens and our backyard garden contributed. But because the big things were slow in coming, I learned to thank God every day for the little things.

The lean years helped me discover, too, what my wife is made of. Never once did I hear Ruth complain. While I thrived and family were telling me that I was a fool to keep on waiting and hoping, she just stuck by me, spreading faith and have you folded yet?"

No, thank God. I did say. Then one night I woke up at 2 a.m. with the feeling like I was sinking right through the bed. That was the start of 11 months and years of fighting a nameless, numbing fear.

But I forced thank God that I hadn't cracked, today I can thank Him that I did. For out of that experience, rough as it was, I learned what fighting is all about.

I learned what it was like to hang onto God when He was all I had. When the panic would hit me I would ask for strength. Or I would just ask for the faith to ask for strength, like the man who told Jesus, "O Lord, I believe; help thou mine unbelief." My weight dropped to 110 pounds and I looked like a walking skeleton, but I never stopped working.

And then, like the exhausted chick at the end of hours of pecking, I suddenly saw sunlight. For me the breakthrough came the day I was offered the role of "Old Atrach" in a picture called Barbary Coast. When I read the part, I cried, out of sheer gratitude to God. It was the role I'd been waiting for for 10 years.

When the reviews came out, there was a lot of excitement about Sam Goldwyn's new "find" — me! Later there were three Academy Awards for my roles in other pictures. But in all the good times we never forgot what we'd learned in the hard ones.

Remembering what that chicken shall be there for, Ruth and I raised our three kids to work hard for everything they got.

Today, 15 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren later, Ruth and I still raise all our own fruits and vegetables at home in California. We follow what Ruth calls "God's method" of growing things, organic gardening with no chemical sprays and fertilizers. Sure it takes a little more effort, but, like I say, effort's the name of the game.

courage and laughter.

There were times when I was sure the others were right. Because along with the money and career struggles I had an even tougher personal battle.

I'd been with the 26th Division during the war, spent 19 months overseas, nine of them in the front lines. For years after the war, buddies landed in the hospital with nervous collapses.

When I'd run into fellows from my old outfit, the first question was always, "Well?

TWIN FALLS — Lutheran Women's Missionary League of Inman Lutheran church have accepted four service projects for the coming year.

Evelyn Amhart, president, said members voted on these projects at the Tuesday evening meeting in the church parish hall. They will be completed in addition to the current projects of the group.

They include $200 to be given to the Lutheran Bible Translators, which is associated with Wycliffe organization which recruits and trains laymen and women as well as ministers to help distribute Bibles to people in their native language.

The second project will be to give $100 to the Indians at Four Corners.

The group also will purchase two filmstrips for the Sunday school at a cost of $30 each and the fourth project will be a $100 donation to the director of youth education, with ministry to students at the University of

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a man I met on the telephone by mistake. I was calling someone else and got the wrong number. We started talking and seemed to have a lot in common. I am 33 and divorced, and he said he was 39 and divorced. I gave him my phone number and he called me every night for two months and we'd talk for hours. Then we made a date to meet.

I had my hair done that day and even bought a new outfit so I'd look real sharp. When we met I almost fainted because he was so handsome. Just like I imagined him to be. He seemed to like me a lot that first night and asked me to go to a motel with him. I refused. We made another date and again he asked me to go to a motel with him. This time I went. I am not what you would call an "easy number," but I just couldn't help myself.

Wrong number

After that he quit calling me, but I'd call him and we'd talk a while. He hasn't asked to see me again and I'm going crazy. I think about him night and day.

How can I get him to return my love, Abby? Don't tell me to forget him. I tried and I can't.

TELEPHONE SWEETHEART

DEAR SWEETHEART: He's seen your full line and it's no sale. [Next time, hold something back.]

DEAR ABBY: My fiancé and I are planning a June wedding here in Honolulu as that is where we are both from. It will be a large church wedding, and I am sure we'll be getting lots of wedding gifts.

We would rather not have to pack and ship these gifts to the mainland, so can you suggest a good way to tell people to please write down what they had in mind to give us, enclose the money, and let us make the purchase when we get to the mainland? Or don't you care for that idea?

STAR-BULLETIN READER

DEAR READER: Requesting money instead of a gift is awkward even tho the reason makes sense. If I were you, I'd pack and ship the gifts to the mainland.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 65-year-old unmarried woman and I still feel young enough to dance. There is something that has annoyed me for years.

When I go to a dance I just sit there with the rest of the unaccompanied women while all the men look us over, and when one decides he wants to dance with me, he asks me, "Abby, I feel that with Women's Lib giving women so many more rights, the ladies should be able to look the men over and decide who they want to dance with. Once in a blue moon they announce 'Ladies' Choice,' then the ladies get to ask the gentlemen.

Will you please see what you can do to give us women a better break? They say a lady must wait for a gentleman to make the first move.

HOPING FOR A CHANCE

DEAR HOPING: Who are "they"? Next time you go to a dance, unaccompanied, look the gentlemen over, and when you see one you'd like to dance with, ask HIM. I'll bet he'll feel honored. And if he asks you why you did the asking, tell him Abby said it was all right. Gentlemen?

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69706, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

A good dummy player would start the same way, but when he got around to hearts he would first play dummy's ace, then the queen. Irrespective of which opponent produced the king he would claim the slam because the man on lead would have to lead a club to give him a sure fire play in that suit or a heart to give him a ruff and discard.

He would have lost a potential 30-point overtrick, but he would have insured the 1,430 points for game, slam and rubber.

Genn speaks for TF Garden Club

TWIN FALLS — The time has come when it will be necessary to grow vegetables as a protein supplement, according to Olan Genn.

He made the remark while speaking to members of the Twin Falls Garden Club at a meeting Wednesday at the YM-YWCA building. Mrs. Gabriel Nuttle, program chairman, introduced Genn.

Genn praised Idaho's high quality water and unique soil texture. He also said low humidity is a factor in raising disease free seed.

He said in planning a garden, the gardener should decide what is wanted and then learn what can be grown. He recommended planning the garden with tall vegetables at the back and grading down with lower growing plants.

He also said the irrigation system should be laid out first, and that fertilizer should be applied twice in a season, about every six weeks to keep plants such as beans growing and producing. He also recommended a light mulch of grass clippings renewed often.

Genn gave pointers on pruning roses, caring for cut flowers and raising Hardy Carpathian walnuts.

He answered a question on organic gardening by saying plants get the same elements whether from natural or commercial fertilizer.

J. T. Creed, also a guest, announced a special award for junior gardeners at the 1973 fair having the best display of flowers and the best display of vegetables.

Preceding Genn's talk, Mrs. T. W. Hicks, club president, read an outline of the six weeks luncheon course being given at the College of Southern Idaho at the Shields building by Frank Dobanka.

Business reports were given by Mrs. Sam Porter and Mrs. Bill Cougherty. Mrs. J. C. Reynolds read the collect.

The club will furnish 400 table favors for the State Garden Club convention April 30-May 7 at Idaho Falls.

Hostesses were Mrs. Kenneth Hodder, Mrs. C. W. Daugh and Mrs. S. W. Smith. Mrs. Cougherty and Mrs. Paul Detweiler poured. The table was decorated with carnations in a St. Patrick's Day motif by Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. Edith Kimball was a guest.

The next meeting is April 5 at the YM-YWCA building. The program will be announced.

Porno bill OK'd

BOISE (UPI) — Despite some reservations about wording of the measure, the House approved 62-1 and sent to the Senate Thursday a bill to crack down on pornography in Idaho.

Rep. Patricia McDermott, D-Pocatello, flag sponsor of the measure, said it was drafted on advice from the attorney general to conform with recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions. "The point is to eliminate hard core pornography," Miss McDermott told the house. "This bill has really been needed for some time."

Several representatives questioned Miss McDermott about specific provisions of the bill, questioning primarily whether they would accomplish what the bill is designed to do.

Rep. Gary Ingram, R-Post Falls, wondered about the effect of a definition of pornography as something that affronts contemporary community standards. It was explained that this was put in to conform with a Supreme Court ruling.

Senators favor death penalty

BOISE (UPI) — A decision of the U.S. Supreme Court notwithstanding, the Idaho Senate served notice Thursday it is opposed to abolishing the death penalty for certain crimes in this state.

because of a Supreme Court ruling which put in question the validity of Idaho's death penalty, the House passed a bill to reinstate it for certain crimes — offering no other alternative. This, supporters said, would make certain the death penalty could be imposed.

But when the bill got to the Senate it was amended to strike the death penalty and make the imprisonment the top punishment for any crime in the state of Idaho. When that bill came before the Senate for debate it was crunched on the floor 9-23.

Then Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl, served notice of possible reconsideration of the bill, saying he wanted to revive it — restore the death penalty — and try to pass it that way.

Sen. Arthur Murphy, D-Mullan, told of a long voting record in the legislature against removal of the death penalty. He called elimination of that deterrent to certain crimes "bad business."

He noted that no one in these times is put to death any way, and then he asked:

"How about the rights of people — the rights of a family when parts of a family are murdered?"

Sen. Phil Britt, R-Idaho, voted against the bill as a protest of the Supreme Court decision. He said it was wrong for the courts to take away the discretion of life or death for certain crimes.

"As amended this bill doesn't do any good," Sen. Dane Watkins, R-Idaho Falls, argues.

Election changes waylaid

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate State Affairs Committee pigeonholed Thursday House-approved bills to make far-reaching changes in Idaho's election laws.

One of the measures — which Republican State Vice Chairman Carmen Dickens said both parties wanted — would have moved the primary election date to the fourth Tuesday in May from August. The committee also held bills which would provide that candidates for Congressional, state and county office should file declarations of candidacy 60 days prior to the primary election.

Redraft measure signed

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus signed into law Thursday legislation creating a 14-member interim commission to begin the arduous task of reorganizing the executive branch of government.

Not quite what the Governor asked, the bill provides for 12 legislators plus two members named by the chief executive. Andrus proposed only a 12-member, bipartisan commission of legislators.

Rewritten by the Republican majority in the Legislature, the bill gives the GOP an 8-6 edge on the commission. Andrus' proposal would have given each party six votes.

Under the House-approved proposal a person convicted of murder who kills again while under sentence for that would be guilty of first degree murder and subject to a mandatory death penalty.

Sen. John Peavey, R-Idaho, said that in such an instance as that "I think the death penalty is appropriate."

Sen. Edith Miller Klein, R-Boise, urged the Senate to pass the bill to clear up confusion resulting from the Supreme Court decision.

"I don't think we can leave this section as is for another year with impunity," Mrs. Klein said, adding the senators can give more thought to the matter and take it up next year.

But Sen. J. Wilson Steen, R-Greene, Perry, spoke the mind of many senators when he said "as amended this does away with capital punishment — we don't want that removed regardless of what the Supreme Court said."

Horses were starving

HOWE (UPI) — Confirmation that horses in the Little Lost River Valley were starving gave a new twist to controversy centered on the roundup of horses from that area.

Duane Struthers, of the Central Nebraska Pack Co., North Platte, Neb., Thursday corroborated statements by ranchers who conducted the roundup that the horses were starving.

Struthers, who is holding the horses until the investigation into the incident is completed, in a telephone interview said "the horses were emaciated and starving."

He said five of the horses died of starvation on the way to the Nebraska packing plant. The animals were sold to the packing plant by a commission buyer in Idaho Falls.

At a news conference Wednesday, ranchers who gathered the horses said the animals would not have lived through the winter in the rugged Lemhi Mountains because of the severity of winter range food.

The ranchers also said the horses were no more wild than range cattle pastured on Bureau of Land Management lands.

Some of the horses, the ranchers said, were branded and those which were not were the offspring of the branded animals.

The Humane Society of the United States has alleged the roundup was in violation of the federal laws protecting wild horses.

The society also charged the ranchers treated the animals with cruelty during the roundup by using hog rings on their nostrils and helicopters and snowmobiles to assist in the roundup.

Shelter home hearing set

BOISE (UPI) — A public hearing is scheduled for the week of March 26 in Boise on proposed rules, regulations and standards for the licensing of Idaho shelter homes.

Dr. John Marks, commissioner of the Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services, said that the final licensure standards for shelter homes will be published after the hearing.

Shelter homes are designed to provide custodial care for persons not capable of or not desiring fully independent living, but who do not require continuous skilled nursing care.

Road repair asked for dam

BOISE (UPI) — Rep. Ralph Wheeler, R-American Falls, pleaded with the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee Thursday for funds to repair the road across the deteriorating American Falls Dam.

Wheeler said the road is safe only for one-way traffic and said failure to repair it until a new dam is built will weaken an economic hardship not only on American Falls but eastern and southern Idaho.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus recommended spending $600,000 in non-recurring federal revenue sharing money on the road but the joint committee rejected the idea in the past few days.

Wheeler asked the committee to change its mind when he spoke on a point of personal privilege on the floor of the House shortly after it convened Thursday.

Prison furor 'spontaneous'

BOISE (UPI) — Apparently spontaneous acts were responsible for the burning of three buildings at the Idaho State Penitentiary Wednesday night.

Estimates of damage to the century-old building total $75,000 to $100,000. The fire destroyed the prison cafeteria, chapel and a building housing the prison tailor.

Raymond May, state director of corrections, told a news conference Thursday the disturbance and fire were apparently spontaneous acts rather than the result of a planned effort.

Prison officials contend the disturbance began when a prison inmate refused to be taken back to maximum security facilities after treatment at the prison medical center.

Friends of the inmate set fires before the inmate council could conclude discussion with the prison officials.

May said an investigation into the incident will be conducted by Ada County authorities. Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said there are no plans for an outside investigation at this time.

Andrus said the main problem is the need to move out of the old prison into the new penitentiary under construction south of Boise.

Sen. Richard High, Co-chairman of the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee, said facilities at the new prison can be occupied as soon as minimum security arrangements can be completed.

Maximum security prisoners already are housed there, High said, and the principal problem now seems to be to have minimum security precautions.

What is needed, he said, is the installation of guard towers. They are scheduled for July 1.

May said the disturbance and fire will not speed up construction of the new prison. Construction will continue on schedule, he said.

A field mess unit supplied by Gov. Andrus will be used at the old prison to feed the inmates in the absence of cafeteria facilities.

There is a possibility charges of arson and destruction of public property will be made against 8 to 10 of the inmate ringleaders. May said in all 30 inmates were involved in the disruption.

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — A Stanford University hearing specialist says efforts to curb noise pollution should take into account psychological as well as physical effects.

Committee rejects Gem court fund bid

By DAVID ESPO Times-News writer

BOISE — A legislative committee Thursday found the state's judicial system guilty of bad budgeting and refused to recommend any more supplemental funds for the remainder of the fiscal year.

The Joint Finance Appropriations Committee earlier in the week had approved a request for $46,500 for supplemental funds for the final three months of the current year, but received word in a letter from the state Chief Justice Charles Donaldson that the judicial branch of government needed more money still.

Donaldson said that unless the court system received nearly $48,000 more, district court sittings in 28 counties might have to be curtailed until the next fiscal year. Nearly $39,000 was lost through Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' imposed 1.9 per cent general fund holdback.

But Rep. Paul Worthen, R-Boise, said the judiciary system had "as lousy accounting and budgeting system as I have seen."

Senate OKs mining bill

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate approved 19-5 Thursday a bill which would strengthen the 1973 Idaho Surface Mining Act by requiring reclamation of land disturbed in extraction of or exploration for minerals.

At present, disturbed land under two contiguous acres does not need to be reclaimed or replaced substantially as it was prior to disturbance.

But under the Senate-approved changes anyone using motorized earth-moving equipment would have to notify the State Land Board of his intention to disturb the land anyplace. The Boise lawmaker said "everyone should move into court with clean hands and that includes the judiciary."

He said the legislature had "done very well by them" and opposed any effort to reopen the supplemental appropriations approved last week.

Rep. E. V. McLean, R-Ketchum, said he hoped they would come out of their ivory tower and clean up their own backwash before they come back here screaming.

The motion to reopen the supplemental appropriations failed, 6-10.

The letter from Donaldson to the committee co-chairmen, Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, and Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl, stated that travel would be cut off for district court judges, court reporters and magistrates. "This will result in no District Court being held in certain counties where no District Judge resides," the letter said. Included in the 28 counties were Blaine, Lincoln, Gooding, Jerome and Cassia.

In addition, Donaldson wrote, the scheduled spring Supreme Court terms in Twin Falls, Pocatello, Lewiston and Coeur d'Alene would be cancelled and ten court reporters would be put on leave without pay.

Highway action plan set

TWIN FALLS — An action plan for highway development was discussed Wednesday and Thursday nights at public meetings in Burley and Twin Falls.

The plan for development of early public involvement in highway planning, was presented by Idaho State Highway Department officials to approximately 30 citizens attending the Burley meeting at the Ramada Inn, and about 50-55 meeting at City Hall in Twin Falls, according to Howard Johnson, district highway engineer, Shoshone. The discussions were led by highway department official Jerry Dick, internal review engineer of the state department and chairman of the action plan committee. Ted Gwin, location and photogrammetric engineer, and Keith Longnecker, assistant planning engineer. Explanatory slides were presented by Bill Harvey, public information officer.

According to Johnson, the department is required by the Federal Highway Administration to develop a written action plan for highway development to incorporate and vary public opinion.

The action plan as defined in an administration bulletin, "Process Guidelines," recognizes that the definition of environment can often best be made by a citizenry itself, through involvement of the public and other agencies.

An action plan involves identification of the economic, social, and environmental impacts of a highway project, an interdisciplinary approach to highway projects, using other approaches in addition to engineering; involvement of the public and other agencies in highway planning; location and design, and alternative planning, giving the public a chance to judge the options of highway construction, according to the official brochure.

Fire rips Ketchum mobile home

Ketchum home razed

KETCHUM — Fire gutted a mobile home Thursday morning in Ketchum, resulting in about $10,000 in damage to the structure and its contents.

According to Ketchum Fire Chief Bill Brand, the mobile home, located in the Pichon Trailer Court, was owned by Ron Castro and Tim Holman. Neither were home at the time of the blaze.

The alarm was turned in about 11:35 a.m. and within 55 seconds six firemen and one truck had been dispatched. A total of nine firemen responded and the blaze was brought under control in about 10 minutes.

Brand said the fire was caused by ignition of newspapers and magazines stacked beside a space heater in the kitchen portion of the mobile home.

Insurance facts aired at Blaine

KETCHUM — No fault insurance was detailed at the Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce meeting Thursday in Ketchum.

Art Ensign, of Ensign, Davies and Ensign, said although no fault automobile insurance measures had been killed by the state legislature, it will be a recurring topic.

The legislation proposed by insurance agents was not a pure no fault concept, Ensign said, and contained a $200,000 medical cost threshold, beyond which the plaintiff would have the right to seek court action.

However, he said, the proposed law would ensure loss recovery within 30 days of a claim report, standardize claim payments and would be compulsory for all automobile owners.

Chamber member Tom McMahon said no fault legislation in effect in New Hampshire and Vermont had resulted in a 55 per cent maximum reduction of premiums. Aft had been proven successful for both the insurance holder and the insurance agent.

In other action, the chamber tabled a proposal by member Robert (Gen.) Neeley that the annual chamber elections be conducted in a separate meeting rather than combined in an election-installation evening function.

Heard a report by chamber manager Lloyd Curtis that to date the Fund-a-Buses had had 27,140 paid fares with about one month remaining for the seasonal service. At the beginning of operation, a goal of 20,000 fares had been set. Last winter, the service had 15,115 fares.

New numbers

KIMBERLY — Telephone numbers have been changed for the Kimberly police station and city clerk's office.

The new numbers are 423-4151 for the police station and 423-4152 for the clerk's office.

Edythe Widmer, city clerk, said Thursday.

Jerome aides to step down

JEROME — Two members of the Jerome school board of trustees said Thursday they will not be candidates for reelection to the board in May.

Trustees Dale Vining and Jim Keith said they will not seek reelection. Keith, zone 4, serving his first three-year term, said he will step down in order to give someone else the opportunity to view problems of the school district first hand.

Vining, zone 3, said his reason for leaving is due to the discussion among board members. This has resulted in a lack of trust, he said.

Vining has served six years on the board and is the past chairman.

Present board chairman, Gordon Hollifield, zone 5, said he will ask reelection because "I don't believe the students of Jerome are being educated properly and I would like to see some changes made. Every day reading, writing and arithmetic is not being taught properly. Students are not being taught to be responsible."

He said he is concerned over the control of the school system being taken from the people and moved to state and federal central government.

"I would like to see school financing on a more equitable basis," Hollifield said.

Also seeking reelection will be newly elected trustee William Kersey of zone 1. He said he hopes to be reelected to help promote better education for the young people of Jerome.

"I am also concerned with better maintenance on our buildings and an upgrading of our maintenance staff. I would like to see a basic maintenance and operation levy adopted for the school district. I also feel we need to expand our present school facilities to meet the continuing growth of the community," Kersey said.

He said a better cooperation between school board members is also needed.

"The dissension which now exists between board members was there prior to my election to the board nine months ago but I feel this can be worked out," he said.

Trustee Leroy Weigle, zone 2, said he is still undecided as to whether or not he will seek office again. Weigle would not elaborate on his indecision saying, "I still have a month to decide before election time and I want to give it some serious thought."

No definite date has been designated for the board of trustee election. The present board is serving in an interim board because of the recent rezoning of the school district which under state law requires a new election of all trustees.

The law also stipulates electors can vote only in their own district and anyone 18 years of age or older is eligible to cast a ballot.

Warren Kays, clerk of the board, said persons interested in seeking election to the board must secure a nominating petition from his office, obtain signatures of residents in his or her district and return the petition to the clerk 10 days prior to the election.

Paul adopts budget

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

PAUL — A $100,000 budget was adopted by the Paul City Council Wednesday night, amounting to a 24 per cent jump over the 1972 figure of $82,000.

Non-property tax dollars account for a major part of the big increase, including $10,000 in revenue sharing funds and $5,000 in state and federally funded law enforcement grants.

No citizens showed up at the council meeting to offer comment on the proposed $100,000 expenditure.

Categorical appropriations (with 1972 figures in parentheses) include administrative, $17,500 ($16,250); city buildings, $3,700 ($1,200); police department, $14,000 ($13,500); parks and recreation, $5,300 ($4,400); streets, $14,500 ($12,375); sewer, $9,000 (same); domestic water, $11,000 ($10,500); irrigation, $7,000 ($4,500); sanitation, $8,000 ($7,500); and contingency fund, $10,000 ($3,875).

The $10,000 in federal revenue sharing was distributed throughout the budget — $2,500 in the city buildings category for office improvements, $1,025 in streets for sidewalk extensions, $2,000 in parks and recreation for recreation and springer equipment, $554 in the police department toward purchase of a radio, and the remainder in the contingency fund.

Construction expenses for a new sewage system were not included in the budget figures since they will be raised through bond indebtedness.

Paul voters last October authorized the city to issue $125,000 in revenue bonds for the project. But, city attorney Larry Duff said Wednesday that local participation may be reduced to no more than $30,000 (see accompanying story).

In other action the council announced the hiring of Chas. Knapp, 52, Paul, as city superintendent. He joined the city staff last year as a mechanic. A farmer, for several years, Knapp also was a contract milk hauler for Ida Gern Dairyman Inc. for 10 years.

Raised the retainer payments (retroactive to Jan. 1) to Goodman, Duff and Chisholm, law firm, Rupert, from $60 to $100 monthly.

Paul project costs down

PAUL — Paul city attorney Larry Duff brought some good news to the City Council meeting here Wednesday.

He said the local share of costs for construction of a new Paul sewage system may be reduced to $30,000 of the total $306,000 project. Paul voters last October, had authorized $125,000 in revenue bonds in anticipation that that sum would be needed to cover local costs.

But Duff said federal participation is expected to increase from 50 per cent to 75 per cent of the total cost, with the state adding another 15 per cent, leaving only 10 per cent as the local share.

The reduced local cost was also brought about by 90 per cent federal and state participation in the purchase of land for the project, Duff said. The project site, west of Paul, valued at $35,000, was previously to be paid for entirely with local dollars.

Duff also said the $30,000 replacement of a current sewer line might not be required which would contribute to the lower local costs.

Monthly sewer fees would raise approximately $2 under the $125,000 bonded indebtedness plan, Duff said. But if total local cost are reduced to $30,000 the fee might increase only one dollar while tripling the rate of bond retirement over a 10-year period rather than 30 years, the attorney said.

Graters roads open

ARCO — National Park Service officials announced today that all roads in Craters of the Moon are now open.

They include the one-way loop and all spur roads with parking areas. Over six foot high snow drifts still remain along the roadway. Craters of the Moon visitor center is open seven days a week from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Schools close

TWIN FALLS — Two Magic Valley schools were closed today because of a variety of illnesses.

Shoshone schools had a 25 per cent rate of absenteeism while at Jerome, Supt. John B. Campbell said 15 per cent of the students and faculty have been absent. He said the absenteeism in the district has been high all of this week due to a variety of illnesses going around school, which include mumps, colds and flu.

Campbell said schools will reopen Monday. This is the first time the Jerome schools have been closed because of illness.

Shoshone Supt. Kenneth Crothers said that medical authorities recommended the closure of Shoshone schools today and Monday because of high absenteeism rates due mainly to influenza and other respiratory ailments. He said plans are to reopen the schools on Tuesday.

The absenteeism rate in the high school was 25 per cent and about 10 per cent in the elementary school. Absenteeism in the elementary school appeared to be increasing, Crothers said.

George Staudaher, Twin Falls school superintendent, said absenteeism in Twin Falls schools is running about 10 to 12 per cent which is about double the five per cent rate considered normal. The advice of health authorities is not to close unless absenteeism reaches 15 to 18 per cent, he said.

Staudaher added that the absenteeism pattern in Twin Falls was very erratic, soaring in a particular school and then returning to near normal levels in a day or two.

Hazelton sewer bond vote set

HAZELTON — Hazelton voters will go to the polls Tuesday to decide the fate of a $35,000 sewer bond issue.

City Atty. S. A. Kolman said the amount is necessary to pay for the city's share of improving the present sewer system and constructing a sanitation lagoon.

Kolman explained that the estimated cost of the project is $125,000 of which the city of Hazelton will have to pay between 10 and 15 per cent.

It is anticipated at this time that approximately $92,500 would be received from the federal government through the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and approximately $18,500 would be received from the state of Idaho, leaving a balance of approximately $15,000 to be paid by the City of Hazelton, Kolman said.

He noted that the city's share would be financed through the issuance of the sewer revenue bonds.

The polls will be open from noon to 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Hazelton City Hall.

Those qualified to vote in the special election must be qualified electors who are 18 years of age or older, a citizen of the United States and a bona fide resident of the City of Hazelton as of March 10.

Only a majority vote is needed to pass the bond election, Kolman said.

Water resource report shows Hazelton's needs

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

(Editor's note — This is the first in a series of a report prepared by the Idaho Water Resource Board on the sewer and water systems in Jerome, Eden, and Hazelton, and what improvements are needed.)

HAZELTON — The Hazelton area was first settled in 1907 as part of a large irrigation development which was responsible for the construction of Milner Dam and Canal and eventually American Falls Dam and Jackson Lake Dam, all on the Snake River.

Hazelton was part of the North Side Irrigation development and was conceived as a shipping point for pioneer farmers in the area. By 1911, the Oregon Short Line Railroad had constructed the Rupert to Bliss cutoff, passing through Hazelton, considerably adding to the town's growth.

Hazelton's population trend shows a slight decline from 1950 to 1970. Recent home construction and location of a federally funded apartment complex for migrant workers indicate that this trend is changing, the report says.

The existing sewage collection system constructed in 1951 provides sanitary sewer service to essentially all of the developed portions of Hazelton. The only developed area which is not served lies immediately west of Lenin Street and north of Second Avenue. This area is located at a relatively low elevation and cannot be served with a gravity system into the existing sewage collection system.

It is also the most rapidly developing area in Hazelton and is expected to remain so. In addition, the Hazelton Housing Authority is developing a 50-unit apartment complex for migrant farm laborers approximately one-fourth mile west of the present Hazelton city limits.

Extension of the collection system to include the housing complex is suggested in the report. It is noted that the present size and placement of the lateral and interceptor sewer pipeline is more than adequate to handle the present sewage flows.

The existing wastewater treatment facilities were constructed in 1950. The plant is a conventional trickling filter plant consisting of a pump lift station, primary clarifier, trickling filter, secondary clarifier and anaerobic sludge digester.

In general, the condition of Hazelton's sewage treatment plant varies from poor to good. The influent lift station is in poor condition, with an outdated and deteriorated control system and poorly functioning pumps, one of which is not currently operable.

Analytical computations indicate that the primary clarifier has a detention period of two hours with the projected loadings is theoretically adequate. However, dye tracing showed that the actual hydraulic detention period of the clarifier was one hour and 45 minutes under present hydraulic loadings.

At the present time, the trickling filter is in poor condition. The effluent from the filter leaks through the under wall, ponding adjacent to the filter. The report says there have been numerous breakdowns to the mechanical distributor over the filter. Growth on the filter is very poor, which is undoubtedly caused by the intermittent operation of the filter.

Water is applied to the filter in cycles, six minutes of application (storage capacity of the lift station wet well) and three to 30 minutes without application depending upon the flow rate into the plant. Recirculation from the secondary clarifier would alleviate this alternating wet and dry operation, the report says.

With proper recirculation, calculations indicate a theoretical detention times of one hour in the secondary clarifier. In addition, dye tests indicate that the actual detention period is only one-half of the theoretical due to an improperly placed overflow weir. This short-circuiting effect is far less than the desirable two hour detention period.

The anaerobic digester appears to be operating satisfactorily. The sludge pump stations are operating similarly, but the equipment is in advanced age and could be subjected to major maintenance at any time. Monitoring by the State Department of Health during 1970 and 1971 has shown that the overall plant efficiency varies between 40 and 70 per cent removal of the B.O.D. Odors emanating from the existing facility have resulted in numerous public complaints.

Based upon existing sewer gradients and the size of the existing trunk pipeline, the existing sewage collection system has adequate capacity to handle the total projected waste flow which will be generated by a population of 725 plus the estimated flow which will be contributed by infiltration.

One potential problem with the existing system is the lighting material used in the original installation. With time, hemp and jute joints will deteriorate and allow either infiltration or exfiltration depending upon the ground water level. It is recommended, therefore, that infiltration and exfiltration rates should be monitored in the future as a safety precaution to protect the city's municipal water supply.

In order to provide service to the existing residential area and the proposed housing authority, it is recommended that an extension of the collection system include this development. To provide this service, a sewage lift station should be installed in the coulee area west of town. A pressure sewer line would connect to the existing system at the corner of Howard Street and Railroad Street.

A report from J.U.B. Engineers, Inc., completed in June, 1972, recommended the construction of full containment sewage lagoon as the most economical and desirable solution. Utilizing this concept, it was determined that 20 to 25 acres of lagoon surface should be sufficient to effectively contain the sewage inflows.

Minico tops Borah to gain A-1 semi-finals

POCATELLO — The Minico Spartans, headed by the third quarter scoring of seniors Craig Hepworth and Val Christensen, built up a lead and outlasted Borah 43-40 to move into the state A-1 basketball semi-finals with Highland, Coeur d'Alene and Mountain Home Thursday.

In what could also be called a post-season playoff for the Southern Idaho Conference title — Minico and Borah tied for that — the Spartans had just enough to win it.

Scoring was low and both teams shot below average from the field and foul line. Had either hit free throws well, the margin would have been larger or the result different.

Although the scoring was low, Minico didn't sit on the ball as it did in a 34-24 loss in Boise during the season. Borah held a 15-14 halftime lead as both took their time looking for the good shot.

But in the third period Hepworth hit six points and Christensen five as Minico moved into a 28-18 advantage. Early in the last quarter the Spartans went up by 11 and still had 10 to spare with six minutes to go.

Borah, with Steve Conner ringing in with 11 last-quarter points, chopped to within six or eight over the next four minutes. At about the two-minute mark, the Lions elicited Minico's advantage to one as the Spartans missed "live" straight ones and one free throw situation.

But Junior Scott Morehouse replied with a three-point play, only to see Borah's Terry Holt nullify that at the other end of the court. Morehouse came right back with an eight-footer off the baseline and the Spartans then hit a few free throws to stay ahead.

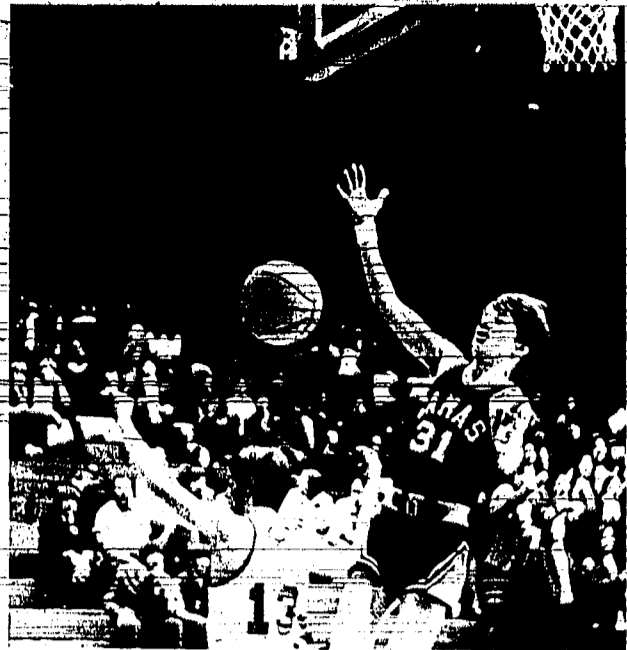

Christensen hit 17 points to offset Conner's 17. The little guard hit two bombs in each of the first three quarters. Bill Hedrick also potted a pair of long shots. Coach Gary Swan was high on the play of junior Nyle Keller who scored only two points but picked off nine rebounds. Hepworth limited Borah's 6-9 junior center Randy Lee to two first-quarter points.

Minico hit only 35 per cent from the field while Borah had a lesser 33.

In other action, Coeur d'Alene trailed Nampa 77-56 and Mountain Home broke away in the last period to topple Rigby 63-52 for the Tigers' 22nd straight victory. Highland wound up the first session by overpowering Moscow 70-55.

Home town Highland burned the nets with routine 70-55 Moscow and will meet Minico Friday at 9 p.m. in the semi-finals.

Friday, Rigby and Nampa meet in game five at 1:30 p.m. Mountain Home and Coeur d'Alene square off — at 3 p.m. — in a battle of the underdogs. Borah and Moscow clash in the first two points of the game, but Ron Kress' Ram machine overpowered the Bears' with a stunning halcourt press.

CAMAS COUNTY sophomore Ben Stroud is stymied at the end of a drive by the defensive work of Mackay's Randy Iyle who tipped the ball away as he crossed Stroud's path. Mackay dropped the Mushers 82-68.

West Jefferson drops G.F. 67-54

LEWISTON (UPI) — Sugar-Salem and Kamiah both came out the winners Thursday night in their opening round games of the Idaho State A-1 basketball tournament and advanced into semi-final action Friday.

Sugar-Salem nipped New Plymouth 49-48 and Kamiah easily disposed of Homedale 51-30.

Earlier, Thursday, West Jefferson breezed past Glenns Ferry 67-54 and Middleton staved off a Tennessee rally to win 66-43. Both winners also advanced to winners' semi-final action.

Sugar-Salem, which won its 20th game of the year against four losses, almost frittered the game away at the free throw line in the closing minutes. The Diggers had four chances, but missed on each occasion.

Sugar-Salem jumped to an early lead and led at the half 30-21. New Plymouth, however, kept picking away behind the shooting of Doug White, who collected 19 points and the rebounding of John Ziegler.

New Plymouth trailed 40-37 at the end of the third quarter and closed the gap to one with less than a minute to play, but Sugar-Salem capitalized on free throws and New Plymouth turnovers to win.

Kamiah jumped to an early eight to nothing lead and played controlled ball collecting a 24-14 halftime lead. Both teams employed zone defenses, but Homedale went to the man-to-man in the final quarter. Kamiah, however, picked it apart, running in 20 points.

West Jefferson, runner-up in district six, jumped to an early 8-0 lead in the first quarter and Glenns Ferry could never catch up. West Jefferson junior forward Richard Chase, who led all scorers with 23 points, hit six of his nine field goals in the first quarter to spark the Panthers to a 16-8 lead.

West Jefferson led 33-22 at the half using the rebounding of six-foot, four-inch center Ryan Hobbie and the shooting of Bryan Jemmett and David Hope.

Jemmett collected 14 points and Hope ten as West Jefferson won its 21st game of the season against five losses.

Glenns Ferry which had posted a 10-14 record going into the game, closed the gap to 45-40 with 1:13 remaining in the third period, but a pair of free throws by Chase and a rebound basket by Hobbie pushed West Jefferson to a 49-42 third quarter finish.

Killebrew signs for $110,000

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Harmon Killebrew, baseball's No. 1 all-time home run hitter, today signed his 1973 Minnesota contract for an estimated $110,000.

Only Jim Kaat of the Twins remains unsigned. The pitcher is seeking a three year contract for an estimated $60,000 per year.

Rod Carew, who signed late yesterday, received a $15,000 raise, putting the 1972 American League batting champion in the $68,000 class.

The 36-year-old Killebrew received a slight cut from last year when he hit 26 home runs and batted .231 although hobbled with an injured right foot most of the season. He had surgery on the foot this winter.

While the Twins didn't reveal details, a spokesman said the contract contained "contingencies."

Trevino conquers 'Blue Monster' at 8-under 64

—MIAMI (UPI) — Lee Trevino, casting aside his "Merry Mexican" image, attacked Donald's "Blue Monster" course Thursday with a record-equalling 8-under-par 64 to go four strokes in front for the opening round of the $150,000 Doral Eastern Open golf tournament.

Known for his carefree hijinks on and off the links, Trevino was all business later when he told reporters he now believes in hard work.

"I've been working hard — been jogging two miles a day and hitting 200 to 250 balls a day," said the muscular little professional. "I'm 15 pounds lighter."

The unaccustomed regimen has paid off. Only 12 days ago, Trevino collected the $52,000 first prize in the Jackie Gleason Invitational Golf Classic a few miles up the road. He finished 19th in the Florida Citrus Open at Orlando last Sunday, but immediately went to work on his weaknesses.

"I worked a lot on my wedges," he said. "I hit 'em terrible last week."

Trevino's 32-32 round, which included four birdies in a row on the back nine, was a record opening day score in this 11-year-old event. It tied Jack Nicklaus' tournament course record set in the third rounds of both the 1969 and 1972 tournaments.

Nicklaus, the winner last year, shot what he called a "solid round" for an opening 69 and complimented his rival. "I'm amazed that he scored that well today. The greens were very slow and the wind was just a-blowing," said Nicklaus.

Two young Florida pros, Jerry McGee from Lake Worth and Bob Barbossa from Pompano Beach, moved into a second place tie with 68s, four strokes back of Trevino and one ahead of Nicklaus.

Barbossa shot a see-saw round for a 35-33. For one stretch of eight holes, he missed par, shooting in order two birdies, three bogeys and three birdies.

"I three-putted the first hole on a par 5 for a par the first time I've ever reached it in two, and that's a sickening way to start," McGee reported.

The slender blond shooter got his confidence back in a hurry by canning a 40-foot putt for a birdie three on the third hole. He knocked three more strokes off par at 5, 8 and 10, but said his best shot of the day was a drive, "long and in the middle" on 18 where you have to drive well.

With Nicklaus in third position at 69 were Tom Kite, Mike Hill, Larry Ziegler, Rick Rhoads, Bill Collins and Dwight Novil.

Trevino began play on the back nine and opened his birdie barriage at the 14th hole of the Blue Monster so called because of its 7,065-yard length, 106 bunkers and interlacing canals and ponds. With putts up to 25 feet, he scored four consecutive birdies through the 17th.

On the front nine, he knocked in everything under 19 feet and shaved four more strokes off par at 3, 5, 7 and 8. And he just missed by inches doing it again when his 12-footer for a birdie stopped short of the cup on the closing hole.

"My putter is very hot and that gives me confidence in the rest of my game," Trevino said in all seriousness.

He said the quit playing at Doral three straight years after scoring double-bogey six four straight days on the 18th hole in 1968. He returned last year and finished in a tie for second with Bob Rosburg.

Oakley, Devils, Mackay and Highland win in A-4

Oakley and Murtaugh slipped past their foes while Clark County and Mackay blasted their Thursday and all four advanced to the semi-finals of the state A-4 basketball tournament. Oakley needed an overtime and a near miracle play by reserve Dean Burch to end the undefeated boast of the Midvale Rangers 60-57.

Murtaugh outlasted rallying Highland of Craigmont 64-62. Clark Fork unleashed superior mobility with pressure at one end of the court and last break at the other to defeat Richfield 67-53 and Mackay dominated the last three quarters in dropping Camas County 82-68.

Friday's action at the CSI gymnasium will send Richfield against Midvale at 1:30 p.m. and Oakley against Clark Fork at 3 p.m. In the first evening game (7:30 p.m.), Camas County meets Highland while Mackay and Murtaugh play in the finale.

The consolation finals are slated for 3 p.m. Saturday, while the Friday semi-final losers play at 7:30 p.m. and the championship will be decided at 9 p.m.

Twice Oakley snatched victory away from Midvale to end that club's dreams of an undefeated year.

Midvale seemed the winner when it went five points up at 50-45 with 59 seconds left on Ron Pickett's three-point play and a pair of free throws by the branch.

But Oakley's Mark Swan pumped life back into Oakley with a three-point play seconds later, and Don Pickett's free throw reduced the margin to 50-44 with 38 seconds left.

Branch had a chance at the 16-second mark to ice it when he hit the first of a one-and-one but missed the second. Oakley tried an outside shot that missed but Don Pickett was there to follow it in.

The overtime was tight as the teams battled to a 59-52 standoff but Midvale again had the upper hand when Ron Pickett drove for a crippler, made it and was fouled with 26 seconds left.

Pickett's free throw rebounded long but the ball was surrounded by three Rangers who relaxed as they confidently pursued it. Suddenly,

Burch, who had been in the game about a minute, swept around them, stopped the ball ahead of him and picked it up on the dribble. He got the lay-up and tucked on the decisive extra point from the foul line. Carl Grant Severe stole the ball on Midvale's next two possessions and closed the Rangers out with two free throws with seven seconds left.

Through the first half Oakley led almost all the time with Midvale getting the first seven points of the third period to move ahead 30-25. It was a see-saw affair from then on until Midvale's lead crested at 50-45.

Ironically, Don Pickett, both 6-3 juniors wearing No. 30, led both teams in scoring. Midvale's Pickett had 11 and Oakley's Pickett 13.

In the second game, Clark Fork simply hustled Richfield into submission. It was tight in the first period as 5-11 Dave Miller scored 10 points and sent the Wampus Cats up 17-10. But the Cats ended it for all practical purposes in the next eight minutes.

Miller continued his torrid shooting, getting 17 of his 23 points by intermission, and Paul Trunnell joined in with eight points as Clark Fork burst ahead 37-23. The Cats opened that to 13-23 in the first two minutes of the third quarter and coasted home.

Steve Bowers and Rick Brown combined for 39 of Richfield's points but the rest of the team managed only 10. Murtaugh looked like an easy winner in the early going against Highland but the Huskies came up with a hot shooting guard duo in Tim Miller (24 points) and Darrell Barnard, who gave fans a look at a two-handed overhead shot in scoring 20 more.

Those two quickly wiped out a 17-10 Murtaugh first-period advantage and Mike Watson's bucket less than three minutes into the second started another tight, see-saw battle.

Murtaugh's Scott Perkins got hot in the final minutes of the half to shoot Murtaugh ahead 42-20. But Barnard hit three times in the third period to fashion a 36-36 tie. After three ties, Murtaugh again went ahead on goals by Perkins and Rick Denney and stayed there by two to four points.

Buckets by Rob Wright, Don Bankes and Denney to open the last period sent the Devils ahead by eight and still had that margin with 3:43 remaining in the game.

Ahead 62-54, Murtaugh saw Miller and Barnard hit back-to-back goals as the Huskies went to the zone press. The Devils, with just over two minutes left, then broke the press once for an easy crippler by Bankes and that was the end of Murtaugh's scoring.

But Highland could reply with only two buckets from Barnard and Dick Way in the last 3:36.

Mackay seized control against Camas County midway through the second period and rapidly pulled away for its 82-68 decision. The teams were tied several times with Mackay holding the two-point edge most of the time until it went to 30-20.

Then Randy Iyer, Jim Kresch and Kent Powers hit six straight points and after a Musher free throw, Herb Whitworth and Blaine Hope added Mackay field goals. That exploded the Miners ahead 70-21.

The Mushers behind Matt Corner and Roland Weeks then stretched to stay within 11 of intermission.

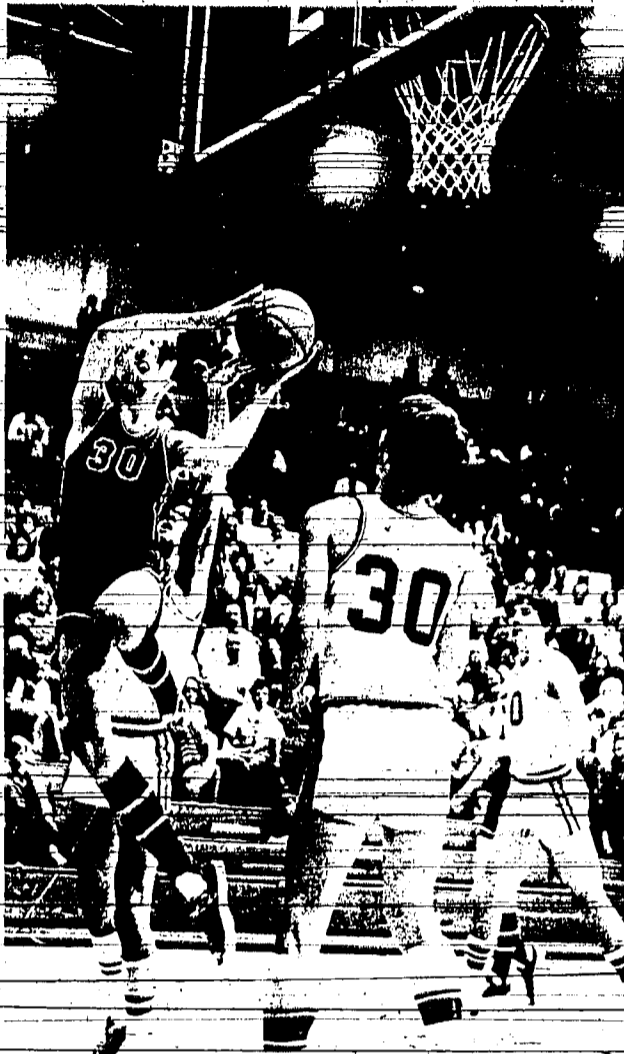

They took an 84-67 lead when Brent Granger opened the second half with two Musher goals. But Hope and Powers righted Mackay and three minutes later the Miners had everything under control at 52-32.

Aberdeen ekes by Gooding 53-51

ROISE, UPST - Shelley High School survived Emmett 50-45 in the fourth game of the State A-2 basketball tournament Thursday, and will play Grangeville Friday in a winners bracket semi-finalist round at 9 p.m.

In other games Friday, Kuna and Gooding at 1:30 p.m., Wallace and Aberdeen at 3 p.m., and Bear Lake and Emmett at 7:30 p.m.

In the final game Thursday night, Shelley led from the start except for a brief period near the end of the first quarter when Emmett took a 15-11 lead. At the half, Shelley led by one point, 30-29, but quickly jumped to a 36-34 advantage.

Three Russets paced the winners, scoring, Wally Foster with 11, and Joe Hughton and Ivan Jolley with 12 each. Only one Husky, Jerry Betzold, managed to score in double figures with 18 points.

In the first major upset in the state A-2 basketball tourney, Grangeville upset Bear Lake 51-52 behind the 22-point effort of senior Ken Schrom.

Bear Lake led at the half 34-26, but the Bulldogs took control in the third quarter and tied it 42-42 entering the fourth period.

With less than a minute to play, Mike Emery dropped in a 20-foot jumper to give Grangeville a 51-52 lead, and the win, after Bear Lake tied it up at 52-52 with 1:05 left.

Behind Schrom was Denis Felgenhauer with 16, Bear Lake was led by Wayne Pentose with 16 points while Doug Wilcox and Ken Parks added 12 each.

Aberdeen's 8-9 Steve Hayes spoiled Gooding's chances to repeat as A-2 state champions as the Tigers defeated them 53-51.

Hayes scored 24 points to lead all scorers, but the two most important ones came with a second left to break a 51-51 tie and give Aberdeen the victory.

Aberdeen, one of the pre-tourney favorites, came alive in the third period to take a 44-36 lead.

Gooding's Gene Larson tied it up 51-51 with 16 seconds left and then Hayes clinched in the winning basket. Larson led his team with 15 points.

In the tourney opener, Wallace outscored Kuna 35-19 in the first 16 minutes of play, but an aggressive Kuna defense snuff them out in the second half.

Kuna scored 17 points in the first quarter to only five for the Miners to trail only 10-30 after three quarters.

Kuna tied the game in the fourth period 40-40 for the first time. They eventually had a 47-44 advantage over the north Idaho team but in the next three minutes, Wallace outscored Kuna 8-2 to tie it up 49-49.

Joe Conley led Wallace with 16 points, while Mike Crnkovich, who dropped in the winning fielder, added 11.

Shut-out scored 14 for Ranger while John Wheeler added 15.

If you don't remember Al Jolson, young fellow, it's past your bedtime. Nevermind, maybe you've seen his imitators drop to one knee and throw their arms out wide at the end of some song. The departed Mr. Jolson did that first in 1913, singing, "You Made Me Love You." Why is noteworthy. He had an excruciatingly painful ingrown toenail. Had to get the weight off that foot.

LATEST SURVEY indicates 42 per cent of the grownup population nationwide would buy electric cars, if they were priced under $2,000 each.

IF ASKED to name one domesticated insect, you'd say honeybee, correct? All right, but can you name another? Ah! told nobody can.

AVERAGE WIDOWER who remarries does so after three years, average widow, after seven years. This, too, is inequitable.

DRIVING RECORD There is an ominous file, sir, in which is recorded the names of every soul nationwide who loses his driver's license either for drunken driving or for involvement in a fatal accident. It contains more than three million names now. And 3,000 new names are added every day. It's in the gizzard of a U. S. Department of Transportation computer.

LANGUAGE specialists have claimed the five sweetest phrases in English are: "I love you," "Dinner is served," "All is forgiven," "Sleep until noon," "Keep the change." Agree? There are those, I'm told, who choose to add, "You've lost weight."

THOSE Yale boys have grown some. Six out of 20 in the graduating class today are over six feet tall. About 90 years ago, only one out of 20 could so claim.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS Q. "Ask your Loté and War man this one: How can I be sure my boyfriend, who drinks a little these days, won't turn into an outright alcoholic?" A. Who can tell? Took this up with scholars who make a study of such matters and they said you'd better check out the fellow's dad. It's their claim that 40 per cent of the big drinkers inherit this tendency. Fascinating, if factual.

Q. "WHERE do mother blue whales have their babies? Along the shorelines of the oceans or far from land?" A. Right out in the middle.

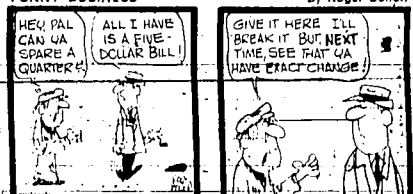

UNDER THE COMMON LAW of old England, anybody who spotted a known criminal was supposed to shout, And anybody who heard said call was supposed to join in the pursuit of the felon. This vocalizing was described in legal language as "a human cry." Everyday usage shortened it up. Our language man says that's where we get the phrase "hue and cry."

Hanoi aid talk set next week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. and North Vietnamese officials will meet in Paris March 16 to discuss American economic assistance to Hanoi, the White House announced Thursday.

Maurice Williams, deputy administrator for the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID), will head the Washington team. His North Vietnamese counterpart will be Dang Viet Chau, minister of finance.

Agreement to establish a U.S. North Vietnamese Joint Economic Mission was reached during Dr. Henry A. Kissinger's visit to Hanoi Feb. 10-13 and announced in a joint communique Feb. 14.

The communique said the commission would have broad responsibility for developing economic relations between the two former enemies and be the forum for exchanging views "on the manner in which the United States will contribute to healing the wounds of war and to postwar economic reconstruction in North Vietnam."

Announcement of the Paris meeting was made jointly at the White House and in Hanoi. A White House spokesman said the Hotel Majestic, site of the lengthy regular Vietnam peace negotiations, would be used for the meetings.

A White House spokesman said the delegations would discuss the full range of economic contacts between the two nations but gave no indication of how long the talks would last.

In addition to Williams, the U.S. delegation will include John Moller, until recently the AID chief in Saigon, and Donald E. Syvret, a special international affairs assistant to the secretary of the Treasury.

In addition to Chau, the North Vietnamese delegation will include Nguyen Co Thach, the vice minister of foreign affairs, and Le Khac, the deputy chairman of Hanoi's state planning commission.

White House raps release of data

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House criticized the Senate Judiciary Committee Thursday for publicly releasing "raw, unvaluated information" from FBI files on the Watergate case during confirmation hearings for Patrick Gray III to be FBI director.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler refused to comment on the information that President Nixon's appointments secretary, Dwight L. Chapin, and his personal lawyer, Herbert W. Kalmbach, arranged a $30,000 payment to Donald H. Segretti, a California lawyer linked to alleged political sabotage activities by Republicans.

Ziegler said he agreed with the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) which expressed concern that the right of individuals was being violated by public disclosure of the FBI investigation into the Watergate bugging conspiracy.

Group picks Urie

HANSEN — Stockholders of the Hansen Sewer and Water Improvement Association Inc., elected Leonard Urie to a one year term on the board of directors Wednesday night.

The annual stockholders meeting also saw three board members re-elected to three year terms.

The term of one year resulted from the resignation of W.D. Wiseman who was appointed county commissioner.

Re-elected were Gary Bourn, Earl Fiddle and Richard Vawter. Board members will meet later to elect their own chairman and other officers.

Ralph Simmons, current chairman, conducted the annual stockholders meeting in the city hall.

Helen Cannon, accountant for the association, gave her annual report which was accepted by the board and stockholders.
